

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The audio information recording apparatus records audio information onto an information recording medium, with the audio information sectioned into predetermined data units (AOBUs). When soundless data and audio data are sequentially recorded as audio information onto the information recording medium, recoding is performed such that soundless data and audio data are separated from each other at a boundary between predetermined data units (AOBUs).

10010427.082901